Flash Flood Watch

In Effect through 7 PM CDT Thursday

Weather Forecast Office

Brownsville/RGV, TX

Issued Jun 21, 2018 7:10 AM CDT

Flash Flood Watch

Now through 7 pm CDT Thursday

Where: All of Deep South Texas

What: Additional 1-3" of Rainfall with locally higher amounts possible

Impacts:

Potential life threatening
Impassable Roads, streets, highways
Flooded homes and businesses
Dangers lurking in flood waters:
Snakes, fire ants and debris.

Actions: Turn Around, Don't Drown!
Seek Higher Ground!

The Flash Flood Watch has been extended and is now in effect for all of Deep South Texas until 7 pm Thursday. Any additional rain will only exacerbate ongoing flooding or cause other areas to flood quickly with the ground at or near saturation. An additional 1 to 3 inches of rainfall will be possible with locally higher amounts through Thursday evening.

Flash Flood Watch Through Thursday Afternoon

One More Day of Heavy Rainfall Possible

Impacts:

- ❑ Saturated soils and swollen rivers/creeks/ditches will keep the risk of flash flooding going today.
- ❑ Additional Average Rainfall Amounts: 1 to 2 inches possible in the watch area from 5 AM through 6 PM.
- ❑ Drier air over the Northern areas will limit heavy rainfall so the Flash Flood Watch Canceled for Bee, Goliad, Live Oak, Victoria and Calhoun Counties.
- ❑ If Flooding is observed, Turn Around Don't Drown!

Issued at 5:08 AM - June 21, 2018

The Flash Flood Watch area has changed, and has been extended in time for the watch area (shown in green). The Flash Flood Watch is now in effect through 6 PM in the areas in green. That means that the Flash Flood Watch has been canceled for all of Calhoun County, as well as the counties of Victoria, Goliad, Bee, and Live Oak. The concerns for heavy rainfall should end by late this afternoon. If flooding is spotted and water covers the road, TURN AROUND DO NOT DROWN!
